cucciole la lattuga torino Yet I arrived with plenty of time to spare, it was extremely easy to take a taxi and get to the site, even in the evening it was no problem, but we were very lucky as it had not rained for quite some time and when we got there the sun was shining and it was very pleasant. The visitors center provides a map of the area and a booklet with information on the falls. We were walking back so just took the map and the booklet, which has a basic history of the area and information on trails and where to buy souvenirs and food. The area is very peaceful and you can see the waterfalls from a distance, but when you arrive you are rather shocked to see how many people are there. There are 3 trails you can take, all take about an hour and a half to complete and it depends on which one you go for. From the main entrance, it is a short walk up the road to the first sight. We opted for the wide path, which at first is really narrow and very overgrown, but after a while it opened up and you could walk along the top of it, which was great. It's really easy to get to the first falls and to get to them on foot without a guide. Here you get a nice overview of the area and the falls. The first falls is just a basic waterfall but not very spectacular, it's more of a cool place to have a picnic and just take in the view. The second falls is more spectacular and is closer to the main entrance. The path here was a bit narrower, but still manageable. This is the main falls and it is a very impressive sight. The third falls is a bit more difficult, but it is the most impressive of all and takes about 90 minutes to complete. The path is again narrower, but manageable. There are some great views of the area and jungle trees here, especially during the dry season. You can rest in the gazebo or enjoy the view from one of the benches. It is also possible to take a boat tour around the area, but we did not go on this, as we wanted to explore the area on our own. There is also a restaurant here, which is open from 8.00 to 17.00. It is also possible to stay overnight. Overall, it was a pleasant site and a nice experience. It would be nice if the nature around the falls was
