VocabTutor Crack+ [Latest]

1) VocabTutor saves all the items you enter in your lists. 2) It will then display all of the items on the screen in the order you have them defined. You can use the up/down arrow keys or the mouse to move items up and down your list. 3) Once you're happy with the items in your list, you can save it to disk and from there reload it at a later date. 4) You can use the DELETE key to delete items from a list. 5) You can add a new item to a list by clicking on the down arrow. This opens up a dialog window where you can enter a list name and the item. 6) You can change the order of items in a list by clicking on an item and dragging it into the order you want. 7) If the list item you're dragging to isn't the item you want, the other items move so that it is. You can then release the mouse button and the item stays where you put it. 8) You can change the list name by clicking on the list name and typing over it. 9) You can add any number of words to a list. 10) The item you're adding will be highlighted so you can tell if it's already in the list. If it is, it will be moved to the end of the list. If it isn't, it will be moved to the position you select in the list. 11) You can delete any number of items from a list. 12) A text file with the list names and items stored in it can be loaded. 13) The order of the list items is not saved in the file, so it can be changed without any problems. 14) VocabTutor will prompt you for each new list to allow you to select one from the list and open it. 15) The word you're translating is highlighted when you're prompted for the translation. 16) VocabTutor can be set to test you as soon as you enter an item, or to prompt you and test you after you've entered each item. It can also test you on any item in the list by picking one at random. If you don't feel like doing your own translation, VocabTutor can connect to any database and automatically translate words for you. You can then remove the translation from the list. NEW. Your personalised vocab lists VocabTutor offers you the option of creating an unlimited number of vocab lists. In previous versions, these were fixed by the installer and could not be personalised. For example, if you wanted to create a list of male and female names or family names, you could do so using a second list. These lists can be organised by name (family names), gender (male or female), first name, last name, occupation, country, region, etc. You can also use a different list for each of the following languages: English, French, German, Italian, Spanish, and Russian. You can set the following fields in the list window: 1. Name. This field allows you to enter any name you choose. If you wish, you can enter the names of your family or friends or any personal names you come across. You can also use the space provided to enter a list of word pairs in your own language. When you add a name to the list, a translation prompt will appear so you can enter a word pair for that name. 2. Definition. This field allows you to enter a word pair that defines the name. 3. Word pair. This field allows you to enter a word pair for that name. 4. Translation. This field allows you to enter the translation of the name. 5. Specify one of the following languages. You can choose English, French, German, Italian, Spanish, or Russian for each list. If you are using one of these languages you will be able to see vocabulary for that language in the vocabulary list window. You can use this to review and improve your pronunciation. You may also wish to practise your English while still in your home country. You can use this to help you prepare for tests or an English proficiency exam. If you are learning English as a foreign language, it's possible you may have previously studied French or German before. You may also have studied Russian
