Then is it true that the center of  $G$  is contained in  $N$ ? I proved that the trivial subgroup is contained in the center but not sure how to prove the converse. Any help would be appreciated. Now you must prove that the center of  $G/N$  is  $\{0\}$ , the trivial group. Hint: If  $nN=N$  in  $G/N$ , then  $n \in N$ , so  $nN=NN=G$ . What does this tell you?
